QND 2024 THEME

QND 2024 THEME

Since the founding of the state and through the turning points of their history, the Qataris have been able to face many challenges in order to build the nation and realize that the human being is the most important building block of that building. The nation flourishes when all segments of society possess the capabilities to work and create in various fields, in addition to possessing a cohesive will linked to its national identity.

During the periods of Qatari history, generations have exerted their effort, thought and money to build the nation. The founder, Sheikh Jassim bin Mohammed bin Thani, and the rulers of Qatar after him worked to build and advance the state, as well as strengthen the Qatari character, thanks to the keenness to adopt science, knowledge, and skills, so the Qataris became accustomed to both knowledge and work. Just as they devoted themselves to the pearl trade at the time of diving, built ships, and expanded their economic, political, and cultural relations with other countries, the saga of their nation-building has continued to this day, and they have invested, with God's grace, in the new bounties of their nation. In the present, urbanization has expanded and new challenges have arisen, to which the Qataris are not late in responding. The nation's gains have been enhanced at this current historical stage thanks to investment in human development, in accordance with the strengthening of national identity, which makes culture its permanent immunity.

Qataris followed the path of innovation and initiative, successfully confronting global challenges, developing their lifestyle in various fields, and benefiting from their country's bounties, thanks to enhancing their intellectual capabilities and developing their competence and practical ethics. These virtues reflect the extent to which Qataris cling to their national identity, which is derived from the richness of their culture and heritage and their interaction with cultures that respect their privacy, which has increased the development of their national character.

If the country rises through the thoughts and efforts of its people, then the Qataris return the generosity and kindness of their country by continuing to work on its immunity, prosperity and advancement among nations.
